About Shaykh Idris Watts

Shaykh Idris Watts has been teaching languages for the last seventeen years.

He accepted Islam in 1998 whilst studying Arabic Studies at Leeds University. He graduated from the University of Leeds in 2002 with First Class Honours as well as an award of excellence for his language skills. He then moved to Morocco, where he immersed himself in its language, culture and knowledge for the next seven years attending classes at the oldest university in the world, the Qarawiyin. He began teaching Arabic from the standard textbooks available, but he soon realized that students studying Arabic part time had specific needs which the textbooks on the market did not cater for. He began writing his own material to suit those needs and to connect the student of the Arabic language to the linguistic miracle of the Quran in order that they feel a closer emotional and spiritual connection to God's word.
